The Bombarde

American Guild of Organists – Harrisburg Chapter

From the Dean

Our mission is to promote the organ in its historic and evolving roles, to encourage excellence in the performance of organ and choral music, and to provide a forum for mutual support, inspiration, education, and certification of Guild members.

Dear Chapter Members,

Let me wish each of you and your family a Happy Easter or a Happy Passover. Plan to participate, if you are able, in the last two events of the chapter program year: the April 21st Workshop and the May 8th Annual Dinner and Annual Meeting. Please see the Important Dates Column in this issue for reservation deadlines and other important upcoming dates. If you cannot attend the Annual Meeting, don't forget to send your Ballot to Kenneth Walker.

I want to thank Robert Lau for presenting the March Workshop and Michael Shoemaker for hosting it.

I asked our Chaplain, Reverend James Lease, to contribute to the Dean's Column this month. He has chosen a most appropriate theme for his brief, but powerful essay.

Soli Deo Gloria,
Ralph Kneeream

Reconciliation has been on my mind lately because it's a big focus of the Lenten season. So when Ralph asked me to contribute to The Bombarde this month, I decided to offer some reflections on reconciliation. As organists (and choir directors), we tend to deal with a lot of people. As we've all experienced, some of those dealings can crash and burn, leaving us with...well...opportunities for reconciliation.

In English, reconcile means to become friends again, so let me tell you a story about reconciliation in my life. I was in third grade when one of my classmates, Shawn, invited me over to his house one Saturday afternoon. He had a lot of neat stuff – G.I. Joe's, Transformers, Legos, eventually a Nintendo, and a great back yard. However, I wasn't friends with him just for that stuff – I really enjoyed his company.

I don't remember quite what happened, but something went sour and that same year we started to fight. Soon we had rival gangs of students and we'd skirmish regularly on the playground. One day we got in a real fight...and got caught. We were hauled before the teacher and made to stay in for recess together for awhile. We got the point. I don't think that we had a very dramatic reconciliation, but something changed and we became friends again. We were best friends until we graduated from high school and even wound up rooming across the hall from each other at Penn State. Don't think that we never disagreed again. However, my friendship with Shawn is probably what got me through high school. I didn't know it at the time, but reconciliation, becoming friends again with Shawn, was one of the best things that happened to me.

An apt image of reconciliation for organists might be tuning. If every pipe, string, and singer goes its own way and refuses to cooperate with the others, cacophony results. Reconciliation involves admitting that you are off-key and making whatever change – small or large – is necessary to come back into harmony. As organists, we have a lot of opportunities for conflict, and so can serve as examples of reconciliation.

As we prepare for upcoming worship services and the onslaught of spring concerts, let us keep in mind that people are drawn to music not only by the harmony which touches the ears, but the harmony which touches the heart, a harmony which can be achieved through reconciliation.

Chapter Member Receives Honor

by Ruth Brommer

Recently, one of our esteemed colleagues, Don Golden, received a telephone call from C. Rob Keene, organist-choirmaster at Trinity Lutheran Church in Newport News, Virginia. This is the church where Don served as organist-choirmaster and also as Director of Music at Trinity Lutheran School for twenty-nine years. Initially, the call came as an invitation to attend an afternoon concert on May 6th by Dungho Lee, a renowned Korean concert organist.

But the true nature of the call came in the second invitation and was for Don, a stunning surprise. Mr. Keene informed Don that the Executive Committee recommended to Church Council that a scholarship be instituted in Don's name in honor of his years of service. Church Council concurred unanimously, and in conjunction with the Christopher Newport University, a scholarship has been established with a sum of $25,000. Anyone pursuing a program leading to a degree in music is eligible to apply.

The true purpose of the phone call was to inform Don of the church proceedings and to ask him to attend a ceremony between the morning services in which he will receive formal acknowledgement of the creation of the scholarship in his name. The proceeds of the afternoon concert with Dungho Lee will be applied to the scholarship fund, as well.

Don retired from Trinity Lutheran in Newport News in 1995 and was honored at that time with the title of Organist-Choirmaster Emeritus. Shortly after that, he moved back to his home area and has been kept busy substituting. By his count, he has substituted in 56 churches of different faith in our area and is going strong.

Congratulations, Don, on the honors you have received and so richly deserved. You have made our AGO Chapter proud of you and your work.

Don Golden at the Princeton University Chapel.

Melange String Quartet

The Melange String Quartet will perform in concert at First Lutheran Church, 21 South Bedford Street, Carlisle on Sunday, April 29 at 3:00 PM sponsored by Fine Arts at First.

Named for its diversity of repertoire, which includes everything from Baroque to the Beatles, Classical and Romantic-era pieces, tangos, and more recent pop music, the quartet was formed in Philadelphia in 2010. Its members, Lindsay Wright and Jessica Eves, violin, Susan Arnold, viola, and Angela Beidler, cello are involved in a range of musical activities around the city, including teaching privately and in the public schools, playing regularly in local church services, and performing with the Lower Marion Symphony, the Philadelphia Orchestra Society, and for the University of the Arts. Two members of the quartet are connected to the First Lutheran community. Lindsay, a 2010 graduate of Wesleyan University where she served as concertmistress of Wesleyan's symphony orchestra all four years, is the granddaughter of church member, Ann Jordan, and Susan, who graduated Summa Cum Laude from Temple University with a Bachelor of Music degree in Viola Performance, is the niece of Pastor Charles Brophy. The concert is free to all with a freewill offering received.

Hershey Handbell Ensemble in Concert

The Hershey Handbell Ensemble will play four concerts in our region in April.

- Sunday, April 22, 2012—3:00 PM at Bethany Village, Community Room, East, 325 Wesley Drive, Mechanicsburg.
- Friday, April 27, 2012—7:30 PM at St. Edwards Episcopal Church, 2453 Harrisburg Pike, Lancaster.
- Saturday, April 28, 2012—7:00 PM at First United Church of Christ, 30 North Pitt Street, Carlisle.
- Sunday, April 29—3:00 PM at First United Methodist Church, 64 West Chocolate Avenue, Hershey.

Hershey Handbell Ensemble was formed in 2004 and has attained local acclaim for its musical excellence. The fourteen ringers play on a seven octave handbell and six octave handchime set along with various other instruments. The program will include original music and arrangements of hymns and other music for handbells as well as selections for handbells with trumpet, with soprano saxophone, and with organ.

The concerts are open to the public and free, though offerings will be received.
